CRESCENTS AND P. A. C. WINNERS IN GAMES

Two One-Sided Basketball Games in City League Played at Y. M. C. A. With uthery and Barracks On Losing Ends.

The Crescents and the P. A. C. easily won their games last evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium when they went against the Barracks and the Southern teams, respectively. In the City League Basketball schedule. The scores were: Crescents 28, Barracks 10 and P. A. C. 35, Southern 13.

The evening opened with the Crescents taking the lead in their game one minute after the opening of hostilities. Bob Bruce scored a pretty basket almost as soon as the game opened. On a foul Grant tallied one point for the Barracks and a moment later Brown caged the ball from the floor, putting the Barracks team in the lead, three to one. This lead was strengthened by Brown throwing another goal from a foul. Hennessey tied the game up with a goal from the floor and Quirk caged a goal from a foul, putting the Crescents one point to the good. This lead was again lost when Jack Timmons scored from the floor and when the period ended the Crescents were ahead, 9 to 6.

In the second period the Barracks were able to score but three points while the Crescents by hard work and clever team playing pulled out with 12 more points.

For the Crescents the work of Horan and Jack Timmons in caging baskets was a feature. Brown and Grant excelling for the Barracks team.

WITH THE SPORTS

Henry Sinclair calmly demands $50,000 "and not a nickel less" for Benny Kauff, the star of the "dead Federal league. An exorbitant price you say? Well, upon first thought it doesn't seem so, but a bit of reflection swings one around to a viewpoint almost akin with that of Sinclair's as to the value of Kauff.

Sinclair has been quoted as asking $50,000 for Kauff, but that figure is a millions one. Sinclair simply was kidding Charlie Weighman, the club owner, when he said that he would take $50,000 for Kauff.

"Fifty thousand dollars is my price—and I think Kauff is worth it," asserted Sinclair.

In his, well—Who will be the greatest drawing card in baseball during the season of 1917? If you are Oscar. It will be Benny Kauff. Who will draw to the parks each week, thousands of fans ever and above the normal attendance? Kauff. Whose work will it be that will be watched the closest? Benny Kauff's.

You want to see Kauff in an American or National league uniform and so does every fan in the country. Throughout the length and breadth of the land he has been heralded as a second Ty Cobb. Some have gone so far as to say that in all around playing Cobb is not one bit better than Kauff.

What will Kauff do? When he makes the first swing over the circuit with his club he will be the magnet that will draw the curious fan. He will be the one man above all others who will demand the attention of the fans.

During the first fifty games he played at home and abroad—it can be figured that Kauff will draw at least fifteen hundred persons per game.

Grant 2, Brown, Cunningham. Time, Two 15m periods.

P. A. C. vs Southern. The Portsmouth Athletic Club had an easy time defeating the Southern team, although they showed considerable improvement over that of their previous performances, as did also the team representing the Barracks. The game ended 35 to 13, most of the scoring coming in the second period. At no time was the Southern men in the lead and the excellent team work of the P. A. C. allowed the ball to stay near their objective basket most of the time.

For the hardest game was played by Walter Woods and good offensive work especially in shooting baskets, was done by Newick, Bill Woods, Harrington and Howard played their hard game, both on the offense and defense. In the second period a shift was made in the positions of the players which appeared to strengthen their game considerably. For the losers, Burnett scored 11 of their 13 points, Cranner caging a goal just before time was called.

above the normal attendance. That means that he will draw 75,000 persons. Averaging fifty cents per head shows that during the first two months of the season he will have brought to the gates $37,500 worth of patrons, over half his purchase price.

The first two months of a campaign usually gives a line on the value of a player. By that time the fans will know whether Kauff is a real major leaguer; whether he deserved to be placed in the same class with Ty Cobb. Should Kauff prove a flake, which seems unlikely, the club that purchased him would be out such a tremendous amount because Kauff really will have drawn half his purchase price by that time.

On the other hand, if the whirlwind of the Feds shows that same brilliant form in an American or National league uniform as he did in the Federal organization he will continue to be a great drawing card and before the end of the season of 1917 he will be one of the stars of the game.

Furthermore if Kauff lands with a real ball club and plays up to his 1914-15 standard, he will put his club in the fight for the pennant. That means increased receipts. He even may help them into a world series conflict. That means velvet of from $50,000 to $125,000 according to the number of games played and the size of the parks where the battles are staged.

Fifty thousand dollars is a huge sum to pay out for a ball player who never has played in neither the National or American league; a truly tremendous sum and yet if we were in the baseball business, possessed of an unlimited bankroll and wanted a winning team—well, we'd pay the $50,000 for Benjamin Kauff—and take a chance.

WRESTLING

Boston, Jan. 13.—Wrestling enthusiasts who a week ago wondered where Cyclone Burns fitted when it came to selecting an opponent for Joe Stecker, are gradually coming around to the view that Burns is very likely to spring one of the greatest surprises in the history of wrestling and that he has at least an even chance of out-tricking the powerful, but crude Norwegian when they clash in Memorial Building Friday night.

The feeling has been gradually developed that Stecker is a superhuman and the mistaken notion that he would outweigh Burns by upwards of twenty pounds has started the friends of the Boston wizard of the mat to analyzing the records of the two men. And, in the final analysis, the ultimate summing up favors Burns very much.

It is recognized that Burns is the cleverest wrestler of his weight in the Wash. poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in and get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. You body, the house your soul lives in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of thousands of sick, anemic-looking men, women and girls with puffy or muddy complexion; instead of the multitudes of nerve wrecks, "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy checked people everywhere.

Everyone, whether sick or well should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels, the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, lateness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

KITTERY POINT

George H. Terry, a former resident of this place passed away at his home in Keene, N. H., on Tuesday, January 18 after a short illness of cerebral meningitis, at the age of 48 years. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and one son, George E. Terry by a former marriage, who resides with his grandparents here. Mr. Terry was employed for many years as a fireman on the Atlantic Shore railway. He was a member of Riverside Lodge of Odd Fellows, No. 72, and of Portsmouth Lodge of Elks, and of the Royal Arcanum of Dover. He was also a member of the New England Telephone Association of Boston. The funeral will be held from the Methodist church, Kittery, on Thursday, after-noon.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Congregational church was very pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Emory Currier at her home on Tuesday afternoon. A good attendance was present and during the afternoon the ladies served sandwiches, cream, cake and coffee.

The W. C. T. U. will meet on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Belle Hoyt. Mrs. Louis Norton of Essex, Mass., is visiting her son, Roy C. Norton and family. Miss Annie Phillips is confined to her home by illness. Roy E. C. Furman was the guest of Mrs. Charles Clark at luncheon on Tuesday. Earl Phillips is improving from his recent illness and is able to be out of doors. D. W. Hayte is planning to harvest his tea crop this week. Mrs. Peter Nolan who has been ill at the Portsmouth hospital is now improving rapidly. Mrs. Clarence Drew and little daughter Pauline visited relatives in Portsmouth on Tuesday. Still another interesting meeting was at the vestry of the Free Baptist church, Evangelist Furman, speaker. Mrs. Justin Sawyer is confined to her home with the grippe. Mrs. J. C. Robinson who is staying with Mrs. Oscar Clark will leave on Thursday for New York and Philadelphia where she will visit relatives and friends for a month.

UNITED STATES NAVY IS THIRD IN STRENGTH

Secretary Daniels Says That But Two Nations Had Stronger Sea Fighters Than U. S. at Beginning of the War.

Washington, Jan. 18.—How the United States ranked third among the world's naval powers at the beginning of the European war when data on foreign fleets ceased to be available is explained in a letter from Secretary Daniels made public by Representative Madden of Illinois. Mr. Madden had called attention to a statement by Representative Kitchin, the House majority leader, who in opposing the new navy programme declared that the records showed the American fleet was superior to that of any nation except Great Britain.

In reply the Secretary said that the strength of a modern navy could be estimated only by the number of dreadnoughts and that according to the Department's information, Great Britain on Aug. 14, 1914, had forty-six dreadnoughts, Germany 23, the United States 14, France 13 and Japan 8. The United States now has nineteen dreadnoughts in commission, building or authorized, he added, but nothing is known as to what other powers have built or ordered since the war began.

In a technical explanation of the relative merits of the 13-inch guns on American dreadnought battleships and the 12-inch modern guns on ships of the Wyoming class, he pointed out that the 13-inch guns of the ships of the Alabama class had an extreme range of 12,650 yards or less than half the range of the 12-inch rifles with which the Wyoming and later ships were equipped.

The Secretary included the Michigan and South Carolina in his list of American dreadnoughts because of the power of their 12-inch guns, but remarked that their maximum trial speed was less than nineteen knots as against twenty knots for the first German dreadnoughts. Dreadnoughts earlier than the Alabama class, like the old Oregon, he said, had guns of 13-inch bore of only 35 calibre and limited range, while the Maine class was equipped with 12-inch 40 calibre guns with an effective range of less than 15,000 yards.

Summing up, Mr. Daniels said that while American dreadnoughts, carried more powerful guns than the dreadnoughts of other navies, they would be useless against a fleet which included dreadnoughts, because their guns lacked range and they are of slow speed.

Referring to the war time building operations of European nations, he said reports indicated that a new German battle cruiser the Hindenburg was launched in August, 1914, and a sister ship laid down at that time. The Great Britain apparently had been carrying on a steady policy of fleet increase.

In Fourth Place, Gardner Says That the American navy as far back as last April had dropped to fourth place in the navy of the world, in an estimate made by Franklin D. Roosevelt, at the time Acting Secretary of the Navy, was made yesterday by Congressman A. P. Gardner of Massachusetts in an address to the Woman's branch of the National Civic Federation.

Mr. Roosevelt's conclusion that the United States probably stood fourth was expressed in a letter to Mr. Gardner last April, part of which was read in his address. As Representative Kitchin, the Democratic floor leader, and his followers "continue to insist that we stand second," Mr. Gardner urged that "Secretary Daniels come out bluntly and tell us just where we do stand," a fact which could easily be ascertained said Mr. Gardner.

Would Abandon Costly Harbor After having spent $395,529 for the harbor of refuge, Portage Lake, Mich., the War Department recommends its abandonment to Congress. ## FORMER PORTSMOUTH CLERGYMAN ADDRESSES MEETING

Rev. C. W. Crossell, formerly pastor of the Advent church in this city, and who left here to go to Manchester 27 years ago, was one of the speakers at the Adventists' Convention now meeting in Boston. Mr. Crossell said yesterday that there was a very close resemblance today in the beliefs of the members of the Advent and the Baptist churches and that if he was obliged to give up his religion he would become a Baptist in preference to any of the others.

Among other things touched in his address he said that many Advent clergymen were deserting their churches because they were not receiving sufficient funds to enable them to live. He advocated larger salaries for the ministers and more liberality on the part of the laymen.

PHILIPPINE BILL THOUGHT UNTIMELY

Washington, Jan. 18.—During debate on America's duty to the Philippines in the Senate, several Democratic senators declared in favor of setting a date for ultimate withdrawal from the islands, and their neutralization by international agreement. Senator Polindexter, Republican, argued for their permanent retention.

The discussion centered upon an amendment to the pending bill, offered by Senator Clarke of Arkansas, proposing that the United States withdraw from the Philippines within two years and guarantee their integrity pending the negotiation of a five-year agreement with all nations for their independence.

Members of the Philippines committee disclosed that they had talked over the possibility of international neutralization and had passed it over as a matter with which the Foreign Relations Committee should deal. Senator Shafroth, author of a resolution authorizing the President to begin such negotiations, said he expected to appear before the latter committee soon.

Senator Stone, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he favored an amendment to the bill along the line suggested by Senator Clarke, but would have the term of the treaty at least twenty years. Senators Walsh and Simmons argued that a neutralization pact should not be negotiated until independence was granted. During the heat of the European war, they contended, was an inopportune time to undertake the perfection of such an arrangement.

Senator Polindexter declared the American people had passed upon the question of granting complete independence several times and always had opposed it. He read extracts from the Democratic platform of 1901, 1908 and 1912, declaring for Philippine independence. On each occasion, he said, the majority vote had been cast against that platform. Within a few months after independence had been granted, he declared, the islands would be torn by revolutions and a dozen small states would arise within the group, all at war with each other. He said the proposal to neutralize the group meant to place a war burden upon future generations in the United States and that the United States would be in the best position to wage the fight if it had its navy and aeroplane basis in the Philippines and control of the situation there.

Chairman Hitchcock of the Philippines Committee, after a call at the White House said the President did not favor the Clarke resolution.

BILL PRESENTED FOR NEW DRY DOCK

Washington, Jan. 18.—Congressman Cyrus A. Sulloway of the first New Hampshire district, has introduced a bill in the house of representatives, calling for an appropriation of $2,000,000 for the construction of a new dry dock at the Portsmouth navy yard. Of sufficient size to take in the largest battleship yet constructed. It will be remembered that it was a bill introduced back some years ago by Mr. Sulloway that became a law and gave the Portsmouth yard the present $1,000,000 dry dock, but which is now too small to take in some of the recent additions to the navy.

Congressman Sulloway is most optimistic relative to the future of the Portsmouth yard, and thinks it is destined to become one of the largest and most important naval stations on the Atlantic.

He has just written a letter to Secretary Daniels of the navy, which touches on the advantages and possibilities of the Portsmouth navy yard, which will be read with interest. The following is the text of the same:

Hon. Josephus Daniels,
Secretary of the Navy,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:—
In this time when there is much talk of the efficiency of our navy yards, the depths of our harbors and other matters pertaining to the subject of national defence, I desire to call the attention of yourself and the department to the wonderful facilities of the Portsmouth navy yard, in which not only the people of my district, but those of all northern New England are deeply interested.

For location, depth of water, natural advantages, territory for development, freedom of channel and proper defence, no yard on either the Atlantic or Pacific ocean, offers greater or more promising facilities than Portsmouth. It has the deepest channel of any harbor on the Atlantic coast, which is worn out of the solid rock, which never requires dredging and which is open to navigation every month in the year, regardless of climatic conditions. It is of such great depth that the greatest battleship that was ever built can be brought with safety to its moorings at the yard. For future growth and development, land can be purchased at prices that are alluring and acres can be secured where not even a foot of land could be bought in some of the great metropolitan centers. The cost of living, the comfortable housing, and the health of the thousands of employees could not be better subserved than at Portsmouth.

In the matter of defence no yard offers such wonderful advantages as Portsmouth. With the aid and development of present land defences and the proper fortifications of the Isles of Shoals, nine miles at sea, which absolutely command the entrance to Portsmouth harbor from every direction, its defence becomes a matter of certainty and simplicity.

With all these and many other advantages, I appeal to you to use your best efforts and ask you to cooperate in helping further develop this navy yard, with its natural surroundings, into one of the greatest naval bases in the country. With the opportunities and advantages at Portsmouth, the question of development can be worked out much more cheaply and economically than at yards where the land is held at fabulous prices and where in many instances it is impossible for the government to secure additional docking facilities without seriously interfering with commerce and ordinary shipping.

I have introduced at this session of congress a bill providing for the construction of another great dry dock at the Portsmouth yard, to be of sufficient size to take in the largest battleship afloat, and I trust that in this effort to secure this necessary, I shall have your hearty cooperation and aid.

With kind regards and best wishes, I am,
Sincerely,
C. A. SULLOWAY.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, calomel, pills act on bowels like pepper acts in nostrils.

Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy and constipated.

Get a 16-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity, but a laxative can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 16 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

FAREWELL DANCING PARTY

REVOLVER CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

PORTSMOUTH ORGANIZATION MAY ENTER INTO NATIONAL ASSOCIATION LATER IN THE SEASON

The meeting of the Portsmouth Revolver Club at the range at City Hall last evening elected its officers whose names were presented at that time by the nominating committee. There was a good attendance and from the enthusiasm shown there is a good season's sport promised. The officers elected are:

President—Horace W. Locklin.
Vice president—Philip F. Webster.
Secretary and treasurer—Mark W. Anthony.

The club is starting with a good membership and, is still open, for those interested in the sport who are invited to join. It has been arranged to hold weekly shoots on Friday evenings. The question on entering the National Revolver Club matches will be discussed later in the season and it is likely that the Portsmouth club will be in competition with other similar clubs in the country.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR ARMY AND NAVY HOME

Arrangements are under way for a benefit dance to be given in Freeman's Hall upon the arrival of the U. S. S. Washington at the yard. The proceeds of the dance will be turned over to the committee for the building fund of the new army and navy home. More details will be announced later. It is expected that the affair will be under the management of the regular weekly dances in that hall.

The Abuse of Credit.

A New Jersey lumber dealer recently surprised the people of the town in which he does business by publishing what might be called a wall of agony over the large number of his outstanding accounts, the sums due aggregating more than $67,000. In this public address to his creditors he urges them to pay up, and it is stated that some of them are doing so. However, the probability is that many of the accounts will have to be charged up to profit and loss. Some of them are of long standing, owing to the easy methods of the dealer and the carelessness of too many people with reference to their liabilities.

This is a conspicuous illustration of the abuses that have crept into the credit system, which are more flagrant today than ever before. Credit has its proper use. There are times when it is a great accommodation and when it should be extended, but it is a mistake for either the seller or the buyer to make it the regular system by which he does business. It leads buyers into habits of extravagance and often involves dealers in serious difficulties for which there is no legitimate excuse.

While it is not often that business men or firms advertise their troubles as this man has done, there are many of them who find themselves in difficulties similar to his through precisely the same cause. Credit is given when there is really no need of it in order to stimulate sales, with the result that dealers sooner or later find their books loaded with accounts, some good and some bad, aggregating large amounts, while their debtors are weighed down by obligations which they would have done better to avoid. Nothing is more profitable to the buyer than counting the cost, and he is far more apt to do this when he makes a practice of paying as he goes.

It would be impracticable to wipe out credit entirely, and it is not necessary that this should be done. But business men and their patrons would be mutually benefited by a closer adherence to cash payments and frequent settlements. There is hardly a business failure that is not attributed to uncollectable accounts. There should be fewer such accounts, and there might be far fewer without inflicting hardship upon any one.

It is a great thing to have a friend at court. A New Jersey man, who had spent his days sailing coal-carrying boats and running a little grocery business, happens to have a son who is president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. A year ago he gave his father a "tip" and the latter converted his little property into cash, invested in the now famous "Bethlehem steel" and is a millionaire. Incidentally it is of interest to note that 16 years ago the son was working for the corporation at $10 a week. And yet there are those who contend that the young man without money has no chance in this country.

The anti-liquor forces of Massachusetts are never idle. They are now working to have women granted the right to vote on the license question, and to abolish the granting of drug store licenses. But Massachusetts, with all its boasted "leadership," continues to drink as much rum as any state in the Union in proportion to population, and the chances are that the proposed reforms mentioned will not be consummated right away.

Dogs are not the only obstacle to the sheep industry in this country, although they constitute the chief drawback. But near Schenectady, N. Y., the other day at dusk a trolley car under full headway struck a flock of sheep and "dressed" 41 of the animals far quicker than it could have been done in the slaughter house, if not quite so neatly. The car was derailed, but fortunately no passengers were hurt.

The single term idea does not appear to be growing in popularity. The Democrats have no idea of restricting President Wilson to a single term, regardless of the utterances of the Baltimore platform, and Governor Whitman of New York announces that he is going to stay at the capitol as long as he can. Which is only another way of saying that his hat is in the ring for two years more at Albany.

A newspaper from Buenos Ayres shows that Ford cars command high prices there—$1,700 for runabouts and $2,300 for touring cars. There is no occasion for tears over Mr. Ford's reckless expenditures for peace, beyond the fact that the money might have been put to much better use.

Before the Massachusetts Legislature there is a bill providing that life prisoners who have served more than 40 years shall be regarded as "trusties" and given automobile rides on holidays. What Massachusetts can't think of in the way of "poppycock" isn't worth mentioning.

Explosions follow up the Dupont powder works thick and fast, and not all of the hard luck is traceable to German "agents." Powder making always was a dangerous business.

CONFISCATION WILL TIGHTEN BLOCKADE

Crafty Shippers Will Lose Out If This Is Adopted.

Washington, Jan. 19.—So far as the tentative proposal of the Allies to establish a formal blockade of the Central Powers is understood here, there will be one conspicuous result as affecting American shipping, namely, that those crafty persons who thought to ship cargoes to Germany to obtain the war market prices of Hamburg, on the theory that if the British seized them they would be paid anyhow, will find their goods hereafter confiscated by the Allies.

It is not understood that the Allies will physically alter their blockade—that is, there appears to be no intention at this time to attempt the establishment of the usual form of blockade of Baltic ports. The change, as Washington understands it, will be more in name than in fact. However, there is a great importance attached to this change in name.

Special physical changes as occur in the extension of the blockade will be, it is understood, in the direction of stopping up the loopholes whereby American goods are now reaching Germany. That simply would mean more persistent and less restricted efforts of the allied war ships to stop all shipments intended for Germany. It would not involve any change in the form of the blockade, merely more effective action.

It is clear that the British public, angered by the publication of reports of the immense amounts of goods being shipped through neutral countries into Germany, is determined to tie the hands of the British Foreign Office by not permitting any exceptions allowing cargoes to enter neutral countries which might reach Germany.

If they carry their point these British citizens will force their government to maintain a watertight blockade about Germany, forbidding the entrance into any contiguous neutral country of any cargo which possibly could be reshipped to Germany. But the United States government, in its legal battle against the Allies' blockade operations, is not concerned with the degree of severity with which the operations are conducted. The United States government can consider only the legality of the principles upon which the blockade rests. Therefore the effect of this insistence by the British public that the blockade be more drastically pressed will not alter the case before the United States.

As to the fact that goods are getting into Germany from the United States, no opinion needs to be expressed upon that point. The export figures of the United States speak for themselves. Imports into the neutral countries in many articles have increased many times their amount and value since the outbreak of the war.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Jan. 19.—Police Commissioner O'Meara of Boston in his annual report just issued calls attention to the fact that during the year which ended on November 30 there were 15 deaths as the result of automobile accidents in this city and that not in a single instance did "street congestion," so-called, have any share in causing an accident. The report also shows that there were 852 persons injured during the year in automobile accidents. These figures compare with 28 deaths and 512 injured during the year of 1914. Of the 15 deaths as the result of automobile accidents, 40 of them were killed in the streets and the balance were passengers in the cars. Of the latter, two were in cars which were in collision with street cars, one in a car which was overturned, one in a car which struck a telephone pole and one in a car which was in collision with another car. Three of the pedestrians who were killed were on the sidewalk and were struck by skidding

The Man and His Clothes.

What is the score? How is the stock market? What is the weather outlook? When a man wants to know anything of these things he turns to his newspaper. It is his reference book. What is more natural than he should refer to it when he wants to buy clothes?

Several manufacturers of branded clothing have been shrewd enough to see this and have advertised their trade mark in the newspapers. This advertising has cashed in directly over the counter of the dealer, as the latter has been only too glad to co-operate in pushing sales for his benefactor in newspapers.

CURRENT OPINION

The Security of a Nation Is In the Instruction of Its Youth.

We have talked much about fitting men to get a place in the world and we have taught them to think too much of the rewards that wait upon success. Our educational creed has been a selfish creed, and to that extent it has been an unpatriotic creed. It seems to be reasonably certain that for some time to come it will be necessary to educate so as to the trade of war, but the general education of our young men while directed to peace should not neglect altogether the possibility of war. The security of a nation and especially of a democracy is in the education of its youth, and the complete and generous education is that which fits them to perform justly, skillfully and magnanimously all the offices, private and public, of peace and war.

I am not advocating military training in colleges. I do not believe in it. But the important thing is that the young man shall have ground into him until it becomes an indelible and inseparable part of him the duty of serving his country, so that when he goes out from college to live his own life, if it is peace, he shall put into his civil duties the same devotion and zeal which every good soldier puts into his work in the field.

The college should be, and we must see that it is, the perennial fountain of patriotism—the center of a fine infection.—By Dr. Charles Alexander Richmond, President of Union College.

By injecting into the body of a horse or other animal germs of whooping cough, Dr. Frank B. Mallory, head of the pathological department of the Boston City hospital, is attempting to secure a serum for the cure of this disease which has attained such a height in this city in the past few years that its death rate is greater than that of typhoid fever and the measles combined. Dr. Mallory reports that he has had little signs of success as yet. One of the chief reasons for the prevalence of whooping cough is said to be the foolish idea of mothers of letting their children get a "croup disease" and get it "over with."

MANCHESTER SCHOOL DECLARED UNSAFE

Special Committee Makes Recommendations for All Buildings.

The special committee appointed to investigate the safety of the public schools in Manchester, made their report on Tuesday evening, in which they say that some changes are needed in about all of the schools and recommend that to make them safe, the expenditure of $45,000 is necessary. The committee find all the school buildings so constructed that less of life is possible in case of fire.

Briefly summed up, the recommendations of the committee for increasing the safety of the city's school children from the danger of death from fire are as follows:

All basements sprinkled. Panic latches on main doors. Closets removed from beneath and from the vicinity of stairways. Stairways metal clad and provided with swinging doors with hooks. Jointed gas jets eliminated and electric installations made. Cold oil boxes enclosing indirect radiator coils should be of metal. Ventilating lines should be provided with automatic dampers. Only sweeping compounds should be kept in metal receptacles. All buildings should be equipped with fire extinguishers. Waste paper and rubbish should not be allowed to accumulate for even one day. All rubbish cans should be covered. These recommendations are such that they could be well adapted to every city in the state.

NEW YORK NUGGETS

New York, Jan. 19.—The child welfare board has just granted the first widows' pensions here. To 161 women caring for more than 500 children will go checks by mail direct from the city auditor's office with no professional charity worker to interfere and perhaps humiliate the poor mother. With each check too, goes a kindly letter notifying the mother that who receives the money for her services to the state.

Writing to the Boys Club Association, which is trying to raise $500,000, Theodore Roosevelt said: "You could have no better motto for the association than 'Never be neutral between sea, lake hospital to New York this adopted the motto as their slogan."

Owing to increased sanitation in stations, education along health lines and more gymnastics, there is less sickness in the New York police department than ever before. In the last year there was an saving of 5,000 days of sick leave as compared with 1914, which is equivalent to more than 13 men a day for active police duty.

Theodore Heltzer, who began his career as a messenger boy, has just been elected president of the Fifth avenue bank.

The police have discovered a man who hadn't heard of the war in Europe. He is Andrew Kirsky, a miner of Morgantown, Pa.

Marriage is now free in New York. Last year the marrying graft of certain aldermen was suppressed. A municipal clerk began to perform ceremonies for $1, which went to the city, plus a ten cent internal revenue stamp on the certificate. First the dollar fee disappeared and now Corporation Counsel Hardy decides the stamp isn't necessary either.

WILL ABANDON ROCKPORT HARBOR OF REFUGE

Work Has Been Going on for Year But Still Far From Completed.

Washington, Jan. 18.—If the recommendations of the Board of United States Engineers submitted to congress through the secretary of war and just made public are followed by congress, the Sandy Bay Harbor of Refuge off Rockport, Mass., will remain uncompleted. In a report made by Col. W. E. Craighill, the district U. S. engineer of Boston, and endorsed by the division engineer and the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, it is recommended that legislation be enacted authorizing the abandonment of this project on the grounds that the benefits to be derived by its completion are not commensurate with the expense.

The Sandy Bay Harbor of Refuge was originally authorized by congress in 1851. It provided for a breakwater extending from Avery's ledge to the Andrews point, a distance of 9000 feet, at an estimated cost of $4,000,000. Subsequently this estimate was increased to approximately $7,000,000.

For the next 25 years appropriations varying from $100,000 to $250,000 were authorized in the various rivers and harbor bills, until, in 1911, $1,950,000 had been authorized for this work. Since that time the board of engineers has refused to recommend and congress has refused to authorize additional appropriations.

During the thirty years that the Sandy Bay Harbor of Refuge has been under construction it has been attacked time and again by congressmen from the interior, but stoutly defended by Senator Lodge, the late Senator Hoar, the late General Coggswell and Congressmen Moody and Gardner.

In submitting his report, recommending the abandonment of the work Col. Craighill states that after several inspections of the breakwater and upon further consideration he has come to the conclusion that the danger to navigation due to leaving the work in its present condition are not such as to warrant the great expenditure of $5,000,000 necessary to complete it. He further believes that the benefits to be derived by navigation interests would not be commensurate with the cost involved.

TRYING TO MAKE IT THE WILSON DOCTRINE

Washington, Jan. 18.—Charging that the president is trying to convert the Monroe doctrine into the Wilson doc-

MAY FOLLOW LINCOLN'S BLOCKADE DECREE

English Papers Seek to Get Great Britain to Make It Absolute.

London, Jan. 19.—On the general question of the British blockade of Germany, says the Chronicle, "two points must not be forgotten, one of right, the other of expediency. On the question of right one must remember that international law exists. As to expediency, it is not to our interest to make enemies of Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway or the United States. From most of them we draw substantial help. The skill shown by the foreign office in safeguarding their interests and sensibilities reflects much credit on that department."

"As regards the United States, the problem is this. The United States does not suffer the hardship of being itself inside the blockading cordon, but it has great trading interest and international concern with this branch of international law. We have throughout justified our action under the order in council by referring to the American development of the doctrine of continuous voyage in the civil war. In regard to contraband, the American cases justify us up to the hilt. In regard to the blockade, they are less conclusive, but one may say they support its principle."

"It was perhaps a mistake that our government in drafting the order in council did not model its terms on earlier precedents. America did not suffer by this in substance, but American attachment to legal form was unqualified and affronted, and the question is whether we could not remedy this by altering the form of the order in council."

TO START COLLECTION OF GROUP PICTURES

Governor Spaulding to Present Group of Administration and Others Will Follow

Concord, Jan. 18.—Governor Spaulding has presented a large group of pictures of the members of this administration to the state. The picture is one made by Chadburn and is similar to ones he had formerly made of the members of the legislature. Along with the 1915 group is one of the former administration, which it is thought former Governor Albert W. Noone may decide to give the state to hang permanently. It is further suggested that former Governors Bass, Quincy and Floyd may see fit to have their group pictures of their administrations added to the gallery and that it may become a custom with future governors.

PRIMARIES MUST NOT OPEN UNTIL EIGHT O'CLOCK

Concord, Jan. 18.—Asst. Attorney General Joseph S. Matthews, in an opinion given by Secretary of State Edwin C. Bean today holds that the Laconia voters may vote for presidential delegates at the same time they vote for their city officers on March 21.

Laconia was not mentioned in the opinion but it is the only city having a city election on the day of the presidential primary, and the opinion was given to settle a question that has arisen there, it was as a matter of fact, a Laconia letter.

The assistant attorney general's study of the election laws satisfies him that while the primary law specifies that the polls shall be open between the hours of 3 and 5 p. m., it does not limit the polling hours to these between 3 and 5 o'clock. The city election law provides that the polls shall be opened not later than 9 o'clock in the morning and that they shall close at six o'clock, and General Matthews rules that if the city polls close at 6 o'clock and the presidential primary polls close at 8 o'clock, the requirements of the law will be met.

Refugees from Mexico Say That Gen. Palo Simeza Was in Charge of Murder Band.

(Special to The Herald)

El Paso, Jan. 18.—Mexican refugees who have fled to Juarez from the district terrorized by the followers of Villa, declared today that the Americans killed at Santa Ysabel were by direct order from Villa. Gen. Palo Simeza, Villa's chief lieutenant, notorious for his cruelty, was in command of the murder band, according to the refugees. He has refused to obey any military order except Villa's. He left Juarez with seventy men shortly before the border port was occupied by the Carranza forces. On the night of his departure he was with difficulty restrained from shooting up a gambling house filled with Americans.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy and thick with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mossy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

REV. GEORGE WOLCOTT BROOKS.

Boston, Jan. 18.—Rev. George Wolcott Brooks of South Sudbury, former pastor for about twenty-five years of the Village Congregational Church of Dorchester Lower Mills and of the First Parish Church in Charlestown, died suddenly Monday at the Relief Hospital. Death was due to a sudden attack of heart failure.

Mr. Brooks, with a companion, Rev. Mr. Whitting, arrived at the South Station yesterday, and on reaching the platform Mr. Brooks became faint and was hurried by his companion to the hospital.

Mr. Brooks was about sixty-five years of age and was a native of New Hampshire. He was educated at Kimball Union Academy, New Hampshire; Middlebury College, Vermont; and then for the ministry at New York and at Andover Theological Seminary. His first experience as a clergyman was in missionary work under the direction of Rev. Dr. Crosby of New York.

Mr. Brooks held a pastorate for twenty years in Woonsocket, R. I., and was twenty years at the First Parish Church, Charlestown. He assumed his present position in 1890 and continued there up to about a year ago, when he resigned to go to South Sudbury. He is survived by his wife and a son.

LOVE TANGLE IN MOHR MURDER CASE

A Triangle Developing Under Charge of Defense That Will Be Interesting.

(Special to The Herald)

Providence, Jan. 19.—"Emily Berger will never live to marry my husband," was one of the jealous outbursts of Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr, before the murder of her husband, for the prosecution of which she is on trial, according to George W. Rooks, who was the state's star witness today. Rook, now the brother-in-law of the alleged "love triangle," Miss Emily G. Berger, was engaged to marry the girl until three years ago, when she fitted him to accept the attention—by her own admission—of the murdered victim.

Under cross-examination by John J. Fitzgerald, head of the accused woman's legal staff, Rook denied that he ever made love to Mrs. Mohr or threatened to put a couple of bullets through Dr. Mohr, but he admitted that he was jealous of the physician's attention to Miss Berger and that he often conferred with Mrs. Mohr about the affair. He was solicitous both to win back Miss Berger and to help Mrs. Mohr out of her domestic difficulties.

The cross-examination revealed the defense contention of an alleged love puzzle that laid the "human triangle in the shade." As the defense lays out the case, Rook was engaged to Miss Berger, she quit him for Mohr; Mrs. Mohr loved her husband and wanted to win him back, and Rook offering to help her, made love to her himself; meantime Mohr was attentive to Miss Florence Ormsby, his housekeeper, and Miss Berger and Miss Ormsby were not on speaking terms, because of the rivalry for the doctor's favor.

Arthur Abbott Philip, assistant attorney general, read a letter identified by the witness, from Mrs. Mohr to Rook, threatening the life of Miss Berger. Rook told of alleged conversations of Mrs. Mohr in which she verbally expressed threats against the girl.

TO ENLARGE CATHOLIC CHURCH AT HAMPTON BEACH

A new Catholic church or an enlargement of the present edifice at Hampton Beach will follow the purchase of a large tract of land by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Joffe, the papers for the transaction having been passed. The lot adjoins the present site of the church on Glade path, 100 feet and runs westerly to the marsh about 400 feet.

The purchase was made from Mrs. Little A. Cutler of Hampton and although the real estate firm of Garland and Murphy.

The Catholic edifice here has proved too small for the rapidly increasing number of visitors to this summer resort and an enlargement of a new church is necessary. Just which edifice will be followed is not yet known but a decision will be forthcoming shortly.

MARTIAL LAW TO BE DECLARED IN ATHENS

Ratification by Parliament During the coming Session is Now Expected--Allies Seize Ports of Athens and Order Expulsion of Teuton Envoys.

Athens, Jan. 18.—The Greek Government in agreement with the allies will proclaim martial law this week, according to the newspaper Kairos. The parliament which will meet next Monday is expected to ratify this measure. Prince Andrew of Greece, brother of King Constantine, left Athens this morning for Salonica to join his regiment. He was accompanied by Princess Alice.

Berlin says that not only have the allies occupied two more ports of Greece but they have delivered an ultimatum to the Athens Government requiring the expulsion of the envoys of the Central Powers within forty-eight hours and threatening "necessary measures" in event of failure to comply. If this be true it would appear that the allies had determined to coerce Greece by force of arms. Forces of the Entente have been landed at Piraeus and Phaleron on opposite sides of the Pireus peninsula only five or six miles from Athens, the capital of the country. Piraeus is the port of Athens, and the second largest city of Greece. It has a spacious and excellent harbor on its northwest side and there are two small harbors on the opposite side of the peninsula, one of them, Phaleron, has been built since 1834, though Athens had a great port there in ancient times. It may be of course, that the story of the seizure of these ports has been made out of whole cloth by the Germans to irritate the Greeks and make them more hostile to the allies, but there is no question that the situation in the Balkans has suddenly grown tense from the Allied point of view. It is even charged by the Berlin press, according to a synopsis of its comment sent by the semi-official agency, that the allies are preparing to dethrone King Constantine and establish a republic with former Premier Venizelos at its head. It was declared that, according to private reports to Berlin, some of the Greek Government archives already had been removed to Larissa, northwestern Greece, and that the whole Greek Government eventually would be transferred there.

300,000 To Invade Egypt

Paris, Jan. 18.—The Petit Journal's Athens correspondent says he learns from diplomatic sources that Djemal

Pasha, commander of the Turkish forces in Syria, after settling the details of the Egyptian expedition, has left Constantinople for Syria.

"Djemal," said the correspondent, "refused to have any German officers on his staff, with the exception of one general nominated by Enver Pasha, Minister of War, who is to act in an advisory capacity, and to exercise no command."

"The Turkish forces destined for Egypt are placed at 300,000 men. Djemal was promoted to the lieutenant generalship before he left Constantinople."

Take Turkish Supplies
Petrograd, Jan. 18.—The War Office yesterday reported:
"In the Caucasus the Turks made two attempts to cross the right bank of the Araks river. Both were repulsed. In the fighting of the 15th we took 167 prisoners and captured a Turkish artillery depot northwest of Khosrasan containing a million rifle cartridges and a thousand shells."

Ten Nights for Evacuation
London, Jan. 18.—Further details of the evacuation of the Suvla Bay and Seddul-Bahr regions appear in the morning newspapers. The accounts state that the operation in each case covered ten nights. The first period was devoted to the removal of winter stores and superfluous. During the next period, everything was removed except the actual food and munitions needed for the final two nights, during which the troops embarked with guns and animals. On the last night picked men held the first line trenches, one man to seven yards of the front, and they remained until word came that all was clear on the beach.

The Order for Landing
The following order has been found in the British camp at Seddul-Bahr on the Gallipoli Peninsula, recently evacuated by Entente troops, says the Berlin Overseas News Agency.

Special Army Headquarters,
April 21, 1915.
Soldiers of France and of the King—You are about to force a landing on the open coast in view of positions considered unconquerable by the enemy. Remember Lord Kitchener's words to your chief when leaving: "You will put your foot on Gallipoli and hold out until the end. The whole world will watch your advance."

(Signed) Hamilton.

Admits Italian Gain
Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, Jan. 18.—"Trenches in the Ostia section on the Italian front which had been taken by the Austrians recently were evacuated by their Austrian occupants owing to the concentrated fire of the Italian artillery. It was announced yesterday by Austrian army headquarters in the official statement received here from Vienna.

Push on At Ostia
Rome, Jan. 18.—The following official communication from general headquarters was issued yesterday:

"Along the Trentino frontier there have been artillery actions. Our fire against Fort Raib in the Seebach valley destroyed part of a cupola, and resulted in the flight of enemy detachments."

"On the heights around Ostia, our vigorous counter offensive, devoted to the recapture of small portions of the trenches north of the village still held by the enemy, continues successfully. Prisoners taken confirm the fact that strong enemy forces were engaged and suffered heavy losses."

"On the Carso there has been no change."

"Enemy aeroplanes yesterday dropped bombs on uninhabited places in the lower Isonzo plain. Little damage was done."

Bombard German Trenches
London, Jan. 18.—The following statement was given out this afternoon at the French war offices:

"There was intermittent cannonading last night at various points on the front. No events of importance occurred."

"The following official communication was issued by the French War Office, last night:

"In Belgium between Westende and Middelkerke our long-range artillery shelled enemy groups, who suffered appreciable losses."

"Two enemy aeroplanes which were proceeding in the direction of Dunkirk were shelled by our special guns and obliged to turn around. They dropped four bombs on the dunes without result."

"Between the Somme and the Alsne we bombarded the German trenches at Harbecourt, east of Peronne, and at Mouldeim-Sous."

"North of the Alsne our batteries caused serious losses to the German organizations on the Plateau of Vauclerc and in the region of the cholora farm, northwest of Berry-au-Bac."

"East of the heights of the Meuse our long range guns bombarded enemy storehouses situated near Conflans-en-Jarnisy, south of Lufey. Flammes and thick columns of smoke were seen to arise from the bombarded buildings."

The following statement on military operations was issued yesterday afternoon by the War Office:

"There were no events of importance in the course of last night except between the Somme and Avre, where our artillery was rather active."

The British official communication issued last evening says:

"Last night the enemy showed activity with trench mortars and bombs at Giverny. Today we made a combined attack with bombs, rifles, grenades and trench mortars at the same place, with good results. Our bombardment has been effective at Moulleghien and at Zwartelen and north of Ypres, where a large fire was caused behind the enemy's lines. Hostile artillery was active in Ypres."

Artillery Active in North
Petrograd, Jan. 18.—The following official communication was issued yesterday:

"Western Russian front: German aeroplanes have raided Shlok, Kirtenbohd and Dvinsk."

"There have been artillery duels in the region of Plakouen south of Riga, at Kokenhusen, east of Friedrichstadt and at Iloukist."

"Our artillery made successful attacks on the villages of Lavrenka and Dubelski, northwest of Dvinsk."

Fleeing Diplomats at Rome
Rome, Jan. 18.—This diplomatic representative of the allied and neutral states accredited to Serbia, who arrived at Brindisi yesterday from Scutari, came on to Rome today. The forty members of the Serbian Government with whom they travelled remained in Brindisi. In the party which came to Rome were George Loyd-Lark, the American attaché, and Robert Merviel.

Line-Loss in Tuberculosis
In the Journal of the American Medical Association (January 27, 1914) was the following statement: "It has been many times pointed out that in tuberculosis, or in the pre-tuberculous stage, an increased amount of calcium (lime) is lost from the body and that this loss is a demineralization, has been thought to be a forerunner of the development of tuberculosis."

"Forced feeding of tuberculosis patients and the enormous amount of lime and calcium given such patients are not now considered as a cure, but a large number of physicians are now specializing in the treatment of tuberculous patients."

"If tuberculosis is due to a loss of lime from the system, the success of Eckman's Alternative in the treatment of this disease may be due, in part, to the fact that it contains a lime and is combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated."

"Always we have urged users of Eckman's Alternative to attend strictly to matters of food."

"In addition to rest and proper diet, some effect on the mind is also to be needed, and in numerous cases of apparent recovery from tuberculous and kindred throat and bronchial affections Eckman's Alternative has supplied this need."

"It is not containing drugs, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. It is safe to try. Your druggist has it or will order it, or you can get it from us direct."

The number of these prisoners, at one time 50,000 has diminished to 16,000. Mr. Mayerick said there has been some suffering among the prisoners on account of lack of food, but that the Serbians themselves had not been much better off. Mr. Mayerick said that he was compelled to eat horse flesh. It is believed that the Serbian officials, including Premier Pachitch, will leave Brindisi shortly for the island of Corfu.

THANKS CHRONICLE FOR ASSISTANCE.

Through a notice published some time ago in this paper the missing heirs of James B. Currier were discovered when the officers of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company were searching for them. The following letter and enclosures were sent from James P. Whitney, representative of the company for New Hampshire from his office in Nashua yesterday:

The Editor, Chronicle, Portsmouth, N. H.

Dear Sir:—

You will see from the enclosed copy of commendatory statement signed by Mrs. Marietta Currier of Everett, Mass. and by Mr. John Donnell of Portsmouth, N. H., that the reading notices that you kindly gave us announcing our search for the heirs of James B. Currier, was the means of discovering these two parties who are respectively the second widow of James B. Currier and a brother of his first wife.

Thanking you on behalf of all concerned, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

JAMES P. WHITNEY,
No. 160 Linden St., Everett, Mass.
Dec. 17, 1915.

To Whom It may Concern:—

It gives me pleasure to testify in regard to the integrity of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., of New York, N. Y. My husband, James B. Currier, held policy No. 36,259 in that Company and paid but one premium on it. That was in 1866. And now, 13 years after his death, the policy lost or destroyed as worthless, the Company through its Nashua agent has taken great pains to look up the heirs and has paid the amount, $100.52, to those entitled to receive it. My first information in regard to this matter came from a niece of my late husband residing in Ellin, Maine. She had seen the reading notices in the Portsmouth, N. H., papers advertising for the heirs of my husband, and others who were interested in this policy. About sixty-five letters have been written in ferreting them out and paying the claim.

The first year non-forfeiture clause is a great advantage to any one taking out an insurance policy. Many companies do not grant non-forfeiture values, I am told, until or unless two or three full year's premiums have been paid.

(Signed) Marietta Currier,
No. 232 Deer St., Portsmouth, N. H.
Dec. 20, 1915.

As I received one-half of the above mentioned amount, I desire to endorse Mrs. Currier's commendation of the honorable treatment received from the Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co., and its representatives. It is really surprising to find a life insurance company, taking all this trouble to hunt up the rightful claimants to these small sums of money on policies issued fifty years ago, and on which but one premium was paid.

(Signed) John Donnell.

OF COURSE

Of course, if you do your own washing you imagine that we can't do the work so good—or that our methods are harder on the fabrics. This is not so. Our work is equal, if not better than the domestic work, and, actually, our equipment is gentler on the articles than the scrub board method. All of our work is returned sterilized clean—and costs but a trifle.

MURDERED MAN FOUND IN WOODS

Concord, Mass., Jan. 18.—A murder was disclosed today with the finding of a man's body in the woods near Concord Junction. The man, a laborer believed to be Joseph Morello had been killed with a razor or knife. There were many slashes in the neck. Medical Examiner Wolcott said there was no doubt that the case was one of murder and so reported to Chief of Police William Craig. The latter called upon the state police for assistance in the investigation which was begun this afternoon.

Morello who had been missing since Saturday night, when the murder is believed to have been committed, was an employee of the American Powder mills in Acton. The place where he was found was on the way to his home, indicating to the authorities that he had been waylaid and perhaps robbed.

FURTHER ADVENTURES OF THE FORD PARTY.

Stockholm, Jan. 18.—Weary with the burden of his stupendous task, exhausted and sick, Henry Ford has left the Peace Expedition and is on a ship bound for America. His party, guided by a committee of his choosing, goes on without him, uncertain of what may happen with his personality gone. The one bit of encouragement is a reception in Stockholm one degree warmer than that in Christiania.

He went suddenly almost mysteriously. After his tramp through the snows of Holmenkollen, Christiania, the day of arrival, he had been confined to his room in the hotel. His friends at last persuaded him to abandon his habit and have a physician. When the party boarded the train for Stockholm, Thursday morning, two days before Christmas, he was not with them. One rumor was that he had stayed behind to rest. Another, that he had been spirited away to a health resort in the mountains—that he might even be on his way to America. At three o'clock next morning, when many hours of travel had worn delegates and press representatives to the nervous breaking point, the sudden announcement was made that Mr. Ford had taken a train to Bergen in the hope of catching the Hergensford. With him had gone his intimate friend, Dean Samuel S. Marquis. Behind him he had left the affairs of the expedition in the hands of a committee of seven—Dr. Charles E. Aked, Mrs. Joseph Fels, Frederick H. Holt, Benjamin W. Huebsch, Dr.

Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Judge Ben B. Lindsey, and Mrs. Lola Maverick Lloyd. Louis P. Lochner was named as secretary and Madame Rosika Schwimmer as an advisor. Gaston M. Platt, Mr. Ford's New York manager who came as treasurer of the expedition, was to be business manager.

That Mr. Ford had in any sense deserted the expedition was emphatically denied by every person close to him. Mr. Ford had been traveling constantly before the sailing of the Oscar II, besides giving close attention to the business of the new undertaking. He was physically weakened when he embarked. The rough voyage, the strain and excitement told on him. He suffered from an attack of influenza. He refused to leave the party, however, until under the absolute instruction of Dr. Kuren of the Red Cross Hospital, Christiania, to seek quiet and rest. Mr. Ford's sincerity is doubted by no one in the party.

What the absence of his magic and almost mythical personality will mean to the expedition it is impossible to say. What enthusiasm there was in Christiania—and there was little—manifested itself in a desire to see Mr. Ford. Apparently his absence has not dampened the order of the Swedish pacifists. A better welcome has been tendered the Peace Mission in Stockholm than was forthcoming in Norway. Sweden's welcome was somewhat spoiled by the hush of the overland train. It started at 10.30 Thursday morning and arrived seven hours later at 7 o'clock Friday morning in Stockholm. The Mayor of the city, Karl Lindberg, had organized a torchlight reception committee which waited many hours in the cold and darkness, and finally dwindled away to a bare half-dozen. Mr. Lindberg, however, who is also president of the Peace and Arbitration League, has shown his cordiality by spending a good share of his Christmas (which is celebrated here by an absolute cessation of all work) waiting on the Ford party in the Grand Hotel.

Internal troubles have again cropped out. This time it was Mrs. Inez Milholland Bolser who broke with the administration. When the formal organization was announced on Christmas night she rose and inquired: "When, why and where did Mr. Ford change his mind about organizing this party on a democratic basis?"

The answer, made by Dr. Aked on behalf of the committee of management was simply, "I don't know."

Whereupon, Mrs. Bolser, who is well known for her allegiance to the principle of democracy, offered the committee her resignation. With it went a long statement of the reasons why she had been led to take the step. She said:

"I accepted the invitation to accompany the expedition with the understanding that we were to express the group opinion of a body of more or less average Americans with regard to the need of ending the present war, and the method by which it could best be done, together the shaping of plans for the avoidance of future wars."

"I took it for granted that the rather vague and valueless opinion of the body of the delegates who embarked on the Oscar II would be hammered into effective shape by group action and constructive thinking throughout the voyage."

She went on that no democratic organization had been formed until three days before the end of the voyage and that organization was abortive. To this lack she attributed all mistakes in policy, misunderstandings, dissensions, inefficiency, and inability to get the idea of a neutral conference before the world. That the new managing committee, while personally worthy, was even less democratic she asserted and therefore she, as a democrat, could not continue with the delegation.

She is going to The Hague to use her personal influence there to prepare the way for the expedition's arrival. Christmas Eve was marked by one significant event. The dinner had been a dreary one without a spark of Christmas feeling. But speeches had been made and dully applauded. After the dinner, the press representatives and some of their friends gathered around a huge table for a party of their own.

Dr. Charles E. Aked came in and saw the group. He asked for permission to speak. In almost humble tones he stated the predicament of the Peace Expedition. Mr. Ford, he assured his hearers, was really compelled to leave. The party was in a critical situation. Mistakes, he admitted, had been made in administration and in dealing with the press. He asked that all that be overlooked, that the newspaper men do what they could to save the expedition—he threw the expedition upon their mercy.

By special permission of Queen Victoria and the Crown Prince, the delegates were permitted to witness this evening a special exhibition of a moving picture film to the exchange of German and Russian wounded prisoners across Swedish soil.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE

"Under Fire" continues its march in to the admiring graces of throngs of auditors at the Park Square Theatre, Boston, where it is breaking all house records for continued capacity attendance at this beautiful playhouse. The drama, for it is a spoken play, not a picture, is a deftly woven combination of marital incident, love episode and generous admixture of engaging humor, the workmanship of one of the most successful of American playwrights. Ed Cooper Magrue, who has to his credit not only that most marvelous of successes of the past two seasons, "Under Cover," but also, together with the present play, the most popular comedy of the season, "It Pays to Advertise." Playing the principal role with his singular ability is William Courtenay, so well known to playgoers of hereabouts for his excellent work in "Under Cover" in which he played at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, for thirty-six weeks, the longest run of any drama in the city's history. In part of Capt. Larry Redmont he has what is pronounced a better role with which he is winning merited plaudits.

"Under Fire" is only repeating in Boston the enormous popularity it won through a six months' run in New York, where of all the plays of the present war it is the lone survivor. There are many reasons for this, principal of which are that it has a well connected story and that most unusual accomplishment of being a war play without noise and without that other seemingly necessary ingredient, horror, but it has thrills. It has romance and it has abundant comedy. This is an ideal combination the like of which has not been attained since "Secret Service," which play for continuity of appeal critics have pronounced inferior to "Under Fire." It is a massive and spectacular production that Selwyn & Co. have made for this play, so large, indeed, that it will be impossible for the play to be presented elsewhere in New England owing to the impossibility of placing it on any of the smaller stages. Then, too, for the reason that it is so costly to operate, the engagement will not extend beyond three more weeks and seats are now on sale for all the performances. Out-of-town patrons are assured that all mail orders will be given prompt and careful attention. Matinees are given on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

LOCKE BROTHERS GIVEN 2 YEARS FOR B. & M. LARCENY

LOWELL YOUTHS PLEAD GUILTY WHEN ARRAIGNED IN EAST. CAMBRIDGE COURT

Boston, Jan. 18.—John T. Locke and Herbert C. Locke, brothers, of Lowell, who were indicted by the Middlesex county grand jury in January, in three counts of conspiracy and 23 counts of larceny from the Boston & Maine railroad, today pleaded guilty to two counts of larceny, when arraigned in the superior criminal court, East Cambridge, and were sentenced to two years each in the Cambridge house of correction.

It is charged by the police that the two brothers stole more than $15,000 from the Boston & Maine in two years. Herbert was employed in the railroad offices in Nashua, N. H., where a part of his duties was to make out payrolls. It is charged he used false names and sent checks to his brother in Lowell and that John cashed them.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

25-cent "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE

"A Full House" begins its last week at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, next Monday, completing one of the merriest engagements of the season. Laughter of all sorts and varieties and of every gradation has ascended nightly, beginning at the very rise of the curtain and continuing unceasingly until the last curtain fall. This farce came with the heralding of New York's heartiest endorsement of being the funniest and biggest laughing success of the past season, after which Philadelphia stamped it with like approval, and now Boston is in the ranks of endorsers. Certainly no more capable company ever interpreted a farce so well as the stellar array of funmakers that H. H. Frazer has provided chief of whom are May Vokes, who, in the role of the housemaid from "Slough City" has replaced all her former comedy hits; Herbert Cortright, who sets a new type for comic burglars; and George Parsons, who appears as a newly married lawyer. The merry story cannot be properly and fittingly transferred to cold type. It moves so swiftly, has so many angles and so many surprises that justice can hardly be done to it in mere words. But its fun begins when a lawyer and a burglar, both returning from "business" trips in Boston, exchange grips in a railroad wreck, plunging each in a series of amusing episodes that keep the audience screaming for two hours and a half.

It is with pride that the management of the Plymouth Theatre announces that the next attraction will be Julia Arthur in "The Eternal Magdalen." The mere mention of Miss Arthur's name is sufficient to awake in the mind the recollection that this most talented woman was at the pinnacle of her artistic excellence when she retired from the stage some years ago. The announcement of her return surely stimulates a keen desire to witness her acting again, and the fact that she will appear in a play which em-
